INTERNATIONALES SEMINAR FÜR ANALYTISCHE PSYCHOLOGIE
INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL OF ANALYTICAL PSYCHOLOGY
AGAP POST-GRADUATE JUNGIAN TRAINING

Give a Space to the Creative Unconscious Public Lectures, Seminars and Continuing Education in Analytical Psychology C.G.Jung

Analytical Psychology according to C. G. Jung encourages tapping your own resources and strengths and can help you find a deeper meaning in life. It opens the opportunity for individuality to unfold, which Jung calls the process of individuation. Understanding symbols and the symbolic world is central in Analytical Psychology. This allows unconscious processes to become clearer and creative potentials to become accessible through interpreting dreams, pictures and myths.

Public Lectures, Seminars and Continuing Education are especially appealing to:

- Psychosocial and pastoral counselors who would also like to work with a depth psychology approach.
- Professionals for whom self-awareness and personality play an important role.
- Persons who pose existential and spiritual questions and who seek a better understanding between inner and outer world.

Carl Gustav Jung (1875 – 1961) – one of the leading thinkers and depth psychologists of his era – contributed substantially with his Analytical Psychology to an improved understanding of the human psychology and mental disorders. Among his enduring key concepts are:

- Archetypes as recurring psychic patterns.
- Typology with extraversion and introversion.
- The concept of individuation and self-realization as a process.
- The various aspects of the personality such as persona, shadow, anima, animus, self.
- Synchronicity as an expression of psychic reality.

Jung understood that our task is to seek the path to one's self, to increase our consciousness, to develop greater authenticity and to bring creativity to life.

ISAPZURICH is the training institute of the Association of Graduate Analytical Psychologists AGAP. Our diploma in Analytical Psychology is recognized by the International Association of Analytical Psychology, of which AGAP is a co-founding group member with training privileges. The training is recognized by the Department of Health of the Canton of Zurich (Switzerland) and provisionally accredited by the Federal Health Department of Switzerland.

ISAPZURICH's students coming from more than 20 different countries contribute to the institute's international flare and cultural exchange. Likewise the faculty is composed of internationally active Jungian analysts and guest lecturers who bring expertise from other fields. Courses are given in English and German.

ISAPZURICH is located in the midst of the city of Zurich, the birthplace and center of C.G. Jung's Analytical Psychology. We are housed in an Art Nouveau building, constructed in 1911 and now under historic protection. Our large light-filled rooms hint of the nearby parks with lush old trees and views over the city.

ISAPZURICH is only 10 minutes by foot or 2 stops with tram 11 or 14 (tram stop „Beckenhof“) from Zurich's main train station.
