

Civilization in Transition 5:

Historical and Cultural Trauma

A Fireside Roundtable

Featuring Dr. Ursula Wirtz, Rose Simpson, Dr. Maria Yellow Horse Brave Heart

Friday, October 30th, 2015, 7:30PM – 9:30PM

IHM Retreat Center, 50 Mount Carmel Road, Santa Fe, New Mexico

Sunspot Room of the San Miguel Building $15/Person

The Foundation for Jungian International Training in Zurich (www.jitzurich.org) and the Jungian Analysts of Washington Association invite you to join this vital discussion of cultural upheaval as Ursula Wirtz, Jungian Analyst from Zurich and author of Trauma and Beyond: The Mystery of Transformation, explores the language of trauma. From survivors of the Holocaust, Cambodia's Killing Fields, and brutal Soviet occupations, Dr. Wirtz reflects on how our cultural narratives add to a conspiracy of silence about sexual savagery to women and children in war and refugee camps, a trauma known but seldom acknowledged. Also with us will be Rose Simpson, artist from the Santa Clara Pueblo, whose work honors tribal traditions while seeking meaning beyond the clichés about American Indian life. An articulate advocate for inducing consciousness through art, she has been described as "an artist with a good right hook." Historical trauma expert from the University of New Mexico Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Dr. Maria Yellow Horse Brave Heart will round out the panel.

Note that this roundtable is part of a 3 day conference, should you wish even greater immersion in the subject. For details, please visit www.jitzurich.org.

RSVP to Kathryn Cook-Deegan, kcd@cookdeegan.com, 202.738.0301, in Washington, DC.
